ARCHAEOLOGICAL STUDIES OF ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITES FOUND ALONG THE ROUTE OF GAS INTERCONNECTOR GREECE-BULGARIA

Short description:

Subject of archeological studies is: the linear part of IGB km 0+000 to km 150+928.89, along with its easement, sites of block valves, on-ground facilities and infrastructure leading to them (electricity power lines, water pipes, sewage, road connections). At EIA report stage of the implementation of IGB the route was visited as part of the initial archeological study. The significant archeological sites falling within the route for which there is a risk to be affected by construction works have been registered. Decision № 1-1/2013 for approval of EIA report also stipulates the types of rescue archeological studies which have to be made in order to preserve archeological sites. Following preparation of DSP-PP and precise definition of the gas pipeline route a certain number of archeological sites affected has been determined. The Ministry of Culture with its opinions №26-00-0429/28.04.2014 and №26-00-0429/13.01.2014 approves the draft DSP-PP and with opinion №33-HH-1396/18.12.14 it approves the Technical design and poses requirements for archeological studies which shall have to be performed for the archeological sites registered at EIA report phase which are affected by the gas pipeline easement. The CONTRACTING AUTHORITY needs methodological and scientific assistance for their preservation as well as such for sites which are not included in the EIA decision but which may prove to be required in the course of implementation of the activities under this contract or for implementing temporary measures for preservation of the respective sites. In accordance with EIA report the types of sites and archeological studies which have to be performed and are required for implementation of IGB project are as follows:

- Archeological sites with full rescue archeological excavations recommended before start of excavation works in the conditions of art. 148, par. 5 of CHA affected by the easement of IGB gas pipeline, described in Table №1 of the Technical specification which is Appendix №1 to this documentation.
- Archeological sites with archeological drills recommended - initial rescue archeological excavations in the conditions of art. 148, par. 5 CHA, affected by the easement of IGB gas pipeline described in Table №2, of the Technical specification which is Appendix №1 to this documentation and drills to specify the thickness of cultural layers.
- Archeological supervision pursuant to art. 161, par. 2 of CHA during construction of archeological sites described in Table №3 and archeological supervision for the whole route of IGB gas pipeline of the Technical specification which is Appendix №1 to this documentation. Archeological studies shall have to be conducted only for the affected by the easement part of the gas pipeline area of the archeological site and above-ground installations. The list of sites for which rescue excavations are planned as well as the measures recommended for their conservation is of indicative nature. It is possible that in the process of activities it is established that implementation of construction does not affect in the way planned. Studies shall have to be performed in accordance with the Requirements of the Cultural Heritage Act and Ordinance № H-00-0001 dated 14.02.2011 for implementation of field archeological studies.
